Progress Notes

DATE/TIME: 01/26/2005 11:50
PROVIDER: WONG, MICHAEL Y.S. (M.D.)
S - 34 year old female, seen today for itchy rash. Started Friday afternoon after work. She was clearing trees and bushes in the foothills. No history of suspicion for food/drink or other contact.

Started in Head and is now most intense in itch in intertriginous areas (axilla, behind knees, groin).

Seen earlier today and given Shot of steroid and benadryl prescription.

O- NAD pf 350/290 Oximetry 99%

Skin - macular smooth lesion back and trunk. Blanching and not raised. Oral & Conj mucosa - wnl

Impression - hives

Plan - discussed keep observing for patterns, associations & triggers (patient had similar outbreak 4 months ago). Discussed many things to consider ie. contact and ingested triggers.

Treat the itch with safe medications.

Discussed OTC loratadine for nondrowsy alternative. Had shot of steroid so will wait and see how it works

eRx triamcinalone cream

Discussed allergy tests and blood test (RAST) would not be helpful at this time. Call/rtc prn
