Subject: bladder infection or yeast infection?

Dr Jasti,

I will start off by telling you I decided to wait on the amoxicillin. We have a whole sick season ahead of us and I'm pretty well through the storm. So the amoxicillin can be ruled out. I am aware it can be a contributing factor to yeast infections.

Every time I urinate it burns badly, And I also feel like I have to go as soon as I am finished. I bought some over the counter AZO yeast and drank a whole bottle of cranberry juice. This seemed to help for a day. So then I stopped drinking the juice and taking the pills. But now the symptoms are back. What should I do? Any ideas would be welcome. Thank you. Tiffany
