Brian,

No response requested this is just a vent. Do you remember the very beginning of your promotion and I was brutally honest with you. I said I have an appointment with the Department of Fair Housing and Employment. Without involving you you too much I explained I had been mistreated and I felt laws had been broken. You said to me there was no need to keep that appointment because you would treat me fair. Did you go straight to Eddie and John and tell them about our conversation? Or were you just as surprised a few days later when the three of us were in Johns office. John with his smirk on his face telling me he didn't know what my problems were. Why didn't you have the strength to tell me to go ahead and protect myself. I had kept your secrets you confided into me. I ended up getting really hurt physically because know one is on my side. I tried to tell you I wasn't trained in Escalon and you couldn't even stand up for me. I had plenty of Central Region experience but knew nothing about the Southern. You reprimanded me in front of Bob for spending 4 hours on the Van Vleit property with a broken computer. You didn't even go to the property to see if your assessment was correct. When Morgan Bennett was screaming ERMA and slamming things at me to make me jump you told me you couldn't get involved. Now I have Emily. Emily who was allowed to ride with MORGAN and Janine while they slandered me and my reputation. Emily and I do not talk. I know she participated in Steves firing. A few weeks ago our bathroom smelled like pot. I know it wasn't Deanna. You are wrong when you say your job is mosquitoes only. Team work and human resources are a part of your job. Since when does the district tell employees not to talk to other employees? You actually told her not to answer any field questions. Yet Steve was on the phone asking Roy zone questions daily. During work hours on the phone stealing company time, wait isn't Steve seasoned? I don't expect a response. I just hope if someone interviews you you remember the truth. Chances are I wont be able to return. I just wonder what happened. Oh the one that gets me the most is when management had you tell me the story about you telling on Duane. As if that compared to my complaint of Bob. Management hated Duane. John gave Bob and Keith full reign to write retaliatory evaluations on the same day, you were going to be the nail that drew the coffin in. There is no comparison. John and Eddie were going to make you fire me, just like they did to Steve. How does that make you feel? I remember when you and Scott were mine and Theresa's seniors. You went shopping for flowers for your wives, antiquing, when it rained sitting in the cabs of trucks all day spreading our colds back and forth. I get in trouble for just trying to do my job. Boy how things have changed. This all seems so unjust and hypocritical. I hope you have a nice Thanksgiving Brian. I hope you think about these things a bit. I know it's not fair to ask you to risk your job to stand up for me, but if by chance someone happens to ask you questions I hope you remember the truth.
