RE: Your potential Roundup claim

Dear Ms. Anderson:

Thank you very much for contacting our office regarding Roundup. Please be advised that at this time, your claim does not meet the criteria we have established. Therefore, we will not be able to represent you in connection with your potential claim.

Please understand that this does not mean that your case necessarily lacks merit. Another attorney may reach a different conclusion based on the same information and could succeed in establishing a claim against the responsible party. For this reason, I urge you to seek the advice of another attorney immediately. Please keep in mind that failure to file the suit or provide appropriate notice within the applicable time frames could result in your claim being permanently barred. The whole area of limitation periods and notice requirements relating to suits is complex and constantly changing. Our office will maintain your information, and if at a later date our criteria changes, we will contact you.

Medwatch is the FDA program for reporting serious reactions and problems with medical products, such as drugs and medical devices. For the most part, the Legislature and Courts determine the laws governing injury claims. However, powerful special interests groups have lobbied elected officials to restrict the rights of victims with valid injury claims. Promoted as "tort reform", these restrictions are attacks on consumer protection laws placing families at greater personal risk, while pharmaceutical companies use laws to their advantage. If you value life, and share our concern about the need to preserve your legal rights in the justice system, please make your federal and state elected officials aware of the profound impact these so called "tort reforms" have, or may have, on you and your family. Real "reform" should help families - not increase the profits for the powerful pharmaceutical companies, corporate interests, and big businesses. You may contact your state legislators at <http://www.house.gov/> or <http://www.senate.gov/>.

With kind regards,
