RE: 2010-2011 GRAND JURY RESPONSE

Dear Judge Appel:

The San Joaquin County Sheriff/Coroner's Office wishes to express our gratitude to the members of the 2010-2011 Grand Jury. Over the course of the year we were able to meet with and correspond with various committees and other members to discuss issues relevant to our operations. We found these interactions engaging and positive in nature.

As required by law, the following are the Sheriff/Coroner's Office responses to recommendations made by the 2010-2011 Grand Jury regarding the morgue, refer to page 77 of the published final report.

FINDINGS

Finding # 1: Dry rot located over the front door.

Response to Finding # 1

On February 1, 2010, a work order was generated to Facilities Management to repair or replace the awning as it was leaking above the morgue entry doors. The awning has been replaced and will be repainted as of August 16, 2011. See attached photographs of the repairs to the morgue.

Finding # 2: The building is small for the amount of cases handled by the Sheriff/Coroner. The use of asbestos, formalin, and other chemicals creates a health hazard to all persons working or visiting the morgue.

Response to Finding # 2

The respondent (San Joaquin County Sheriff/Coroner's Office) agrees with the Grand Jury's recommendation to build a new facility. A request for a new morgue was submitted via this year's budget process for an estimated $35,000,000 for construction. Unfortunately, the current budget situation precludes that from happening.

Testimony verified the building has asbestos.

In 2008 a study was conducted that identified the remaining areas that contained asbestos. These two areas, the white floor tile in the morgue and the tan tile in the entry, have been abated as of February 12, 2008.

Formalin is a carcinogenic and is a health and occupational hazard to all persons who work or visit the morgue.

To reduce exposure to any of our staff or visitors, we relocated the formalin contained jars from the autopsy suite to the Columbarium. Pursuant to Occupational Health Standards, we have our staff wear the formalin detecting badges twice a year and the results are sent to the hospital to monitor for acceptable exposure levels. The result of the last analysis of the formalin detecting badges was received on July 25, 2011, indicating that the formalin exposure was within safe levels.

The following is our response to the Civil Grand Jury report, Sheriff's Department/San Joaquin County Jail, pursuant to Section 933.05 of the Penal Code, refer to page 74 of the final report.

FINDINGS:

Finding #1: Metal Shelf under steel table in the kitchen is broken and needs to be welded or bolted.

Response to Finding #1:

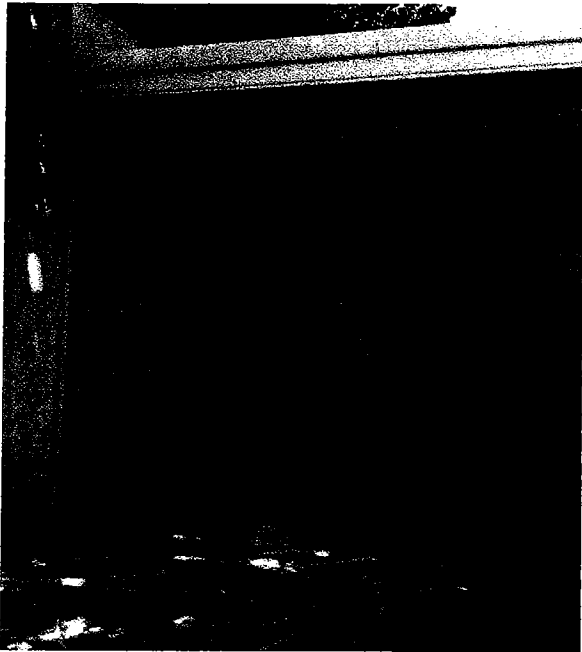

The respondent (San Joaquin County Sheriff/Coroner's Office) agrees with the finding. The shelf was welded and procedures for the maintenance of the equipment in the kitchen are in place. A regular preventative maintenance schedule has been put into place with documentation. See attached photographs of the repairs.

Sincerely,

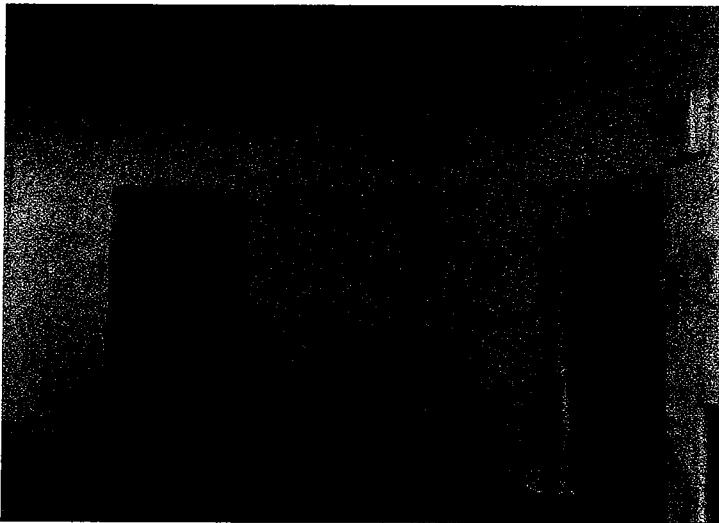

STEVE MOORE
Sheriff-Coroner
